BOY CONFESSES TO MURDERING NURSE BY STABBING HER

Arrested near Morristown,
N. J., After Body Is Found
At Foot of Rocks

STABBED TO DEATH

Police Unable to Find Any Motive for Crime,
As Yet

PATERSON, N. J., July 15.—After being questioned for several hours, Robert Woolsey, fourteen, confessed late last night to the murder of his nurse, Anna Elizabeth Miller, twenty-three, Capouse street, Scranton, Pa., at Green Pond, eighteen miles north-west of here, according to State police.

The boy, whose physique gives him the appearance of a youth of twenty, but declared by police to be mentally abnormal, is held at the Morristown State police barracks. Police said they have been unable to find any motive for Woolsey stabbing the nurse to death.

Woolsey is the son of Harry Woolsey, a Jersey City paint dealer, and he and his parents and Miss Miller came to their summer home at Green Pond from their residence at Ridgewood, N. J., Saturday afternoon. Sunday afternoon Miss Miller and the boy went for a walk, and when they failed to reappear at night a search was started through the heavily wooded Pompton Lakes region.

Miss Miller's body, stabbed several times, was found in a secluded ravine near Lookout Mountain yesterday afternoon, and a description of the boy was broadcast in the belief he had been kidnapped and his nurse slain.

He is five feet, seven inches tall, weighs about 160 pounds, and has blond hair. He was recognized when he appeared at the Dover police station last night and asked for a night's lodging, and was turned over to State police. He first said his name was John Jones.

The body of Miss Miller was found at the bottom of a twenty-foot cliff. Atop the cliff broken branches of small trees and trampled bushes indicate, according to police, that she was killed after a terrific struggle and the body hurled over the ledge.

Police searched the place with flashlights, but were unable to find the hunting knife the boy is supposed to have used. The nurse was stabbed twice in the chest, twice in the abdomen, and seven wounds were found in the back.

Dr. J. P. Kuhl, coroner's physician, said the wounds in the chest and back caused death almost instantly. At first State police disputed Dr. Kuhl's statement Miss Miller was stabbed, contending the wounds were caused by jagged rocks when she tumbled over the cliff.

After the stabbing the boy walked to Rockaway, ten miles north of Morristown, and slept Sunday night in a lumber yard.

Miss Miller's body was taken to a morgue in Butler, N. J., and today Coroner Thomas Stidworth plans to have Dr. Kuhl conduct an autopsy.

Miss Miller was one of eight children, and last visited her home in February. Her parents said they received a telegram from her employer yesterday afternoon, stating she had been killed in a fall over a cliff.

Although attended by Miss Miller for the greater part of the last three years, the boy attended Bordentown Military Academy, Bordentown, N. J., last year, and a year ago was a student at the Roosevelt Academy, Monsey, N. Y.

The place where Miss Miller's body was found is about nine miles from the spot where Roderic Meakle, twenty-eight, Paterson violinist, and Miss Jennie Brauer, twenty-two, died in a suicide pact on July 5.

Overnight Hike Planned By Troop 2, Boy Scouts

An overnight hike is planned for by Bristol Troop 2, Boy Scouts of America, to take place this coming weekend.

The boys will leave St. James's Parish House at 1:30 p. m., Saturday, returning to their homes on Sunday at 3 p. m.

It is hoped by the troop leaders that parents of the boys will permit them to take advantage of this hike. Those desiring to take part are asked to meet at the home of Scoutmaster David Neill, 1013 Pond street, Wednesday evening at eight, at which time they will be informed as to what they shall take on the trip.

Meetings of the troop are being dispensed with until the second Monday in September, in order that the Scouts might take advantage of vacation periods. Notices will appear in the papers from time to time regarding hikes to be taken on Saturdays during the summer.

Number of Prizes Awarded At Newportville Card Party

NEWPORTVILLE, July 15.—The card party which the Newportville Fire Company, No. 1, held in the fire hall, was a fair success. Nearly everyone in the building received a useful prize. Pies and sandwiches were on sale.

Those receiving high scores and prizes were as follows:
Pinochle—Mrs. Stever, 751; R. Cameron, 750; Richard J. Wiley, 742; Fred Pickard, 733; Mrs. Goodbred, 727; Mrs. Nills, 717; J. R. Everitt, 711; Mrs. Goodbred, Jr., 694; Mrs. Simons, 692; Mrs. Adell Johnson, 681; N. J. McGinley, 679; Bruno Nonitti, 671; Charles Goodbred, Jr., 664; R. Christophers, 657; Howard Johnson, 653.
"500"—Maxwell Koplin, 4270; Mrs. Lily Perry, 3490; Mrs. Haas, 3020; Mrs. Edward Middleton, 3020; Elizabeth Vandergrift, 2770; Mrs. Rose, 2680; Mrs. Neal J. McGinley, 1770.

The fire boys wish to thank all who attended or helped in any way.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE IS AN INTERESTING AFFAIR

Five Counties Represented at Inter-County Meeting
at George School

TAKE UP PROBLEMS

The Inter-County W. C. T. U. Institute for the Southeastern District of Pennsylvania was held at George School on Friday with representatives from the five counties: present, Bucks leading with 42.

As Mrs. Violet Hastings, of Philadelphia, who succeeded Mrs. Kester as president, was ill, Mrs. Lucy A. Harper presided, with Mrs. Jessie McFrederick, of Upper Darby, secretary, and Mrs. Eldridge of Chester County, treasurer.

Singing was accompanied by Miss Bessie McMullen. Preceding the reading of the 139th Psalm, Miss Emily Packer gave instances where those who had drifted away from God felt lonely because they had lost the close personal touch. "To insure our happiness we must have a firm faith in God," said Miss Packer.

In extending greetings, Mrs. Harper expressed pleasure in seeing so many Christian women gathered together in a righteous cause. In responding, Mrs. Elizabeth Heebner, of Lansdale, expressed satisfaction that 60 out of 67 counties gave Pinchot good majorities at the primaries.
Mrs. Luella Nolan, of Chester County, read an excellent paper written by Mrs. Maud Kalker, president of West Chester Union, on "Why We Believe in Sabbath Observance." "The Lord's Day is a perpetual reminder of the day of rest needed by man, especially the laborer and business man. We have splendid examples of men who always observe the Sabbath," it was stated.

Mrs. Mabel Pennock, of Lansdowne, said the motion picture industry is working against everything that the W. C. T. U. is working for.

Miss Bessie McMullen, State secretary of the Y. P. B., outlined the aims and work of this organization, whose purpose is to train for Christian citizenship and total abstinence. They are competing youth roll call to show President Hoover that the rising generation is behind him in his law enforcement program. The census they are taking is to show, by direct questioning, how little truth, if any, there is in the propaganda circulated by the wets; also to show what industries have taken the sites of former saloons and breweries.

In the correspondence that some of the Y. P. B. girls are carrying on with girls in England it was discovered that through propaganda the English had been led to believe that the U. S. was in a wild condition and nearly everybody was drinking.

Several present criticized Mayor Mackey's Fourth of July oration. Noontide prayer was voiced by Mrs. Lida Bean, of Mercer County, who had just returned from a meeting of several hundred young people in Canada.

Francis Pyle and wife, of George School, assisted by members of Newtown Union, served iced tea and coffee to all in the school gymnasium.

At 2 o'clock "America the Beautiful" was sung, and Mrs. Ella Gladman, of West Chester, State director of work among the colored people, read the scripture, the thought being, "Be not overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good," and offered prayer.

Mrs. Mary Worthington, Montgomery County, director of essays and posters, told of 200 essays written by grade pupils of Norristown on "Constitution and its Framers." $18 was given in prizes. Of the 200 large posters executed by Norristown scholars, twelve exceptionally fine ones were exhibited.

The speaker also said at the recent large convention at Denver, Colorado, of the Federated Clubs, a ringing cry of resolution was adopted denouncing as Fifteen Aliens Appear for Final Papers in Naturalization Court at Doylestown—Doylestown Golfers Win All But Four of Sixteen Matches in Contest With the Bucks County Country Club Playing First of Two Inter-Club Matches—Grim Reunion.

DOYLESTOWN, July 15.—Fifteen aliens appeared before Judge Calvin S. Boyer and Naturalization Examiner Dillon in naturalization court for their "final papers" to become citizens of the United States.

The first two applicants to pass the test were John Bonyko, of Yardley, a native of Czechoslovakia, and Tom Kovacevic, of Coopersburg, a native of Sweden.

In the Court of Common Pleas this morning a master's report was filed in the divorce case of Birdie Lee Jaeger, of Oakford, against William R. Jaeger, of Langhorne.

Judge Boyer appointed Mrs. Arthur H. West, of Philadelphia, as guardian for her sister, Matilda P. Shallow, fifty-eight, a former resident of Buckingham township. The Doylestown National Bank and Trust Company was named as surety to the amount of $8,000.

Winning all but four of the sixteen matches and scoring a total of 20½ points compared to the losing team's 6 points, the Doylestown Country Club golfers on Saturday defeated the Bucks County Country Club linksmen in the first of two inter-club matches held annually.

The match was played on the Doylestown course and is the first of the year. The second match will be played at Langhorne on August 9. With the aces of the Langhorne club in the play last Saturday, the victory for Doylestown was worthwhile winning. The best of the visiting team fell with the lower ranking players just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillborn Darlington Saturday entertained the descendants of the late Dr. George W. and Elizabeth Prizer Koons Grim at the annual reunion which was held at the Darlington home.

The late Dr. George Grim was a prominent physician at Revere. He had the pleasure of seeing his six sons become prominent professional men, three following the practice of medicine, two practicing law and another an instructor in the Keystone State Teachers' College at Kutztown.

Two of the six sons, Dr. George M. Grim, Ottsville, and Dr. Frank S. Grim, Frenchtown, have died. A daughter, Mrs. Oscar H. Bigley, Doylestown, also died a number of years ago.

One of the sons, Dr. F. H. Grim, is practicing medicine at Revere. The two following the legal profession are

MISS MILDRED HARPER IS BRIDE OF NED MOYER

Ceremony Performed Today at 11 A. M., in The Presbyterian Church

TO RESIDE IN BRISTOL

A quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at eleven o'clock in the Presbyterian Church, when Miss Mildred Harper, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harper, of 717 Pond street, became the bride of Ned S. Moyer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moyer, of Radcliffe street.

Rev. William Yeomans officiated at the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of the near relatives of the bride and groom. Mrs. M. D. Weagley, organist of the church, presided at the organ.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Marion Pettit, as bridesmaid, while Donald Moyer, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Mrs. Moyer was attired in a beautiful orchid tone chiffon gown, made with a high waist line. The neck was V-shaped, outlined in the back with a ruffle of the chiffon. The skirt was of uneven hem line and consisted of a tier of ruffles. She also wore an orchid tone picture-hat of horsehair trimmed with an ornament of brilliants on the left side and carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses.

Miss Pettit wore a very pretty pink flowered chiffon frock also made with a high waistline and uneven hem. A cape Bertha formed the trimming of the bodice. With this Miss Pettit wore a picture hat of pink tone horsehair and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served the bridal party and the families of the bride and groom at Washington Crossing Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Moyer have left on a ten days' honeymoon sightseeing trip via motor.

Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents, at 717 Pond street, for a time.

Hon. Webster Grim, Doylestown, and Harry E. Grim, Perkasie. Dr. James S. Grim is at the head of the science department of the Keystone State Teachers' College, Kutztown.

The day was spent in an informal manner, a family dinner during the noon hour having been a feature. During the afternoon the younger members of the family enjoyed a number of games appropriate to the season.

Schedule for Tonight
FEDERALS vs. A. O. H.
Result of Last Night
EMILIE, 9; ST. ANN'S, 4
(By T. M. Juno)

Poor baseball caused another game to be lost by the St. Ann's team when they were downed by the Emilie nine, 9-4, last night on St. Ann's field.

The "Saints" played the worst baseball exhibited on that field and tossed away what should have been an easy victory.

Not one of the nine tallies made by the victors was earned. All came as the result of errors and "homehead" baseball. St. Ann's earned its first two runs but received the last two on errors.

In the third inning when the Emilies counted five times, only two safe singles were made. One of these was recorded because Castor slipped as he tried to peg out the man running to first.

In the other big inning, the fifth, only two hits were made, both being stratch. B. Praul's hit was stopped by Massilla, who fell when fielding the ball, and did not recover to get the runner out at first. The second was hit to the same player who had an easy double play in sight, but no one covered second and the batter received credit for a safe single.

In all, the Emilie team made six of its seven hits in this manner and should have been held to but one hit, but as the scoring rules stand, the team is officially credited with seven safe blows.

"Monk" Oriola led the hitters of the evening with three safe hits in four times at bat.

D. Still played nice ball afiel for the winners.

Man Leaps From Window As Child Enters Room

Residents in the 400 block on Jefferson avenue were much excited last night at about 10.20 when a man was seen to jump from a window and then off a rear of the residence of Daniel Curran, 417 Jefferson avenue.

Dorothy Curran, 5, went upstairs to the rear bed-room and when she entered the room she found a strange man there. The child ran downstairs to her mother, who screamed and as she did so, she heard the man leap from the rear window.

An examination of the room showed that a bureau cover had been disturbed and the window was propped up with the screen.

Police were called and found a man answering the description in the vicinity of the Harriman Hospital Lawn Fete. He was in company with another young man and they gave their names as Michael Doris and Frank Stanley, both of Perth Amboy, N. J.

The pair told the police that they were returning to their homes in Perth Amboy after being to Pittsburgh. They said they had been dropped off a truck here.

While one man answered the description no one was able to positively identify him. The pair were released today.

Over 400 Delegates Are At Convention at Perkasie

PERKASIE, July 15.—(INS)—More than 400 delegates from various sections of Eastern and Central Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and nearby sections of New York and Maryland, are attending the eighth annual summer assembly of the Evangelical Church at Perkasie Park here.

Dr. W. L. Bollman, Allentown, is serving as chairman of the convention which is sponsored by the Evangelical Churches of the Eastern Pennsylvania and Atlantic Conferences.

The sessions opened last night and will continue all week.

ATTENDANCE AT BIBLE SCHOOL AVERAGES 72

Pupils at Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour Have Four Teachers

ENDS LAST OF JULY

Teachers at the daily vacation Bible school conducted at the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour during the month of July are much pleased with the attendance which averages 72 each day.

The school is starting on its third week, and will continue until the end of July, or for four weeks.

The boys and girls attend from several of the wards of the borough, and there are three churches of the town represented besides the edifice at which the sessions take place.

The group meeting daily from nine to 11.45 is thoroughly enjoying the course of work outlined by the pastor, Rev. Andrew George Solia, and his assistants. The Junior Department at present is studying "The Child and the World," and Bible work is taken up by all.

The older girls are interested in basketmaking and sewing; and the boys in building of bird-houses, etc. The smaller tots do easier pieces of hand-work.

Rev. Solia is assisted by Miss Jennie Tisone and Miss Dora Thompson in the larger group of children; while the primary boys and girls are divided into two sections with Deaconess Grist and Mrs. Thomas Hanford instructing.

Interest has been growing each year in this splendid piece of work in Bristol, and those in charge are being commended on all sides for their time and interest given to the cause.

VISIT FRIENDS

Mrs. Paul Bemis, of Everett, Mass., who is spending some time in Bristol, and Miss Jennie Scott, of Otter street, were guests of friends in Olney over the week-end.

Entertain Friends At Birthday Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy B. Cullen, of 1009 Pond street, entertained at a birthday anniversary party on Saturday afternoon at their home from two until four o'clock in honor of their small son, Frederick's, fifth birthday.

The rooms were prettily decorated in blue and white crepe paper festoons and the favors also bore out the blue and white color scheme.

The guests were: Betty Louder, June McLaughlin, Geraldine Louder, Buddy Green and Bernice White, of Bristol; Robert Patterson, Jr., and Donald Patterson, of Trenton, N. J., and Allen Burton, of Tullytown.

The children enjoyed playing a number of games for which prowess in competition was awarded Bernice White and Donald Patterson.

A birthday feast was enjoyed and Frederick was presented with many lovely gifts as mementoes of the occasion.

BRACKEN POST APPROVES OF COUNCIL'S ATTITUDE

Supports Body in Stand for Enforcement of Fireworks
Ordinance

POLICE COMM. REPORTS

Borough Council is in receipt of a letter read at the regular monthly session last night in which the Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, supported the stand taken by Council in prohibiting the display of fireworks within the limits of the Borough.

The letter reads as follows:

"William J. Lefferts,
"Secretary, Borough Council:
"We have your letter advising us of the Ordinance prohibiting fireworks in the Borough and wish to thank you for your kindness in so notifying us."

"The idea of a fireworks display has been abandoned by our post as we firmly believe such an Ordinance should be enforced and is for the good of the Borough and people of Bristol should back the ruling wholeheartedly."

"Sincerely,
"THE ROBERT W. BRACKEN
POST, No. 382,
"A. F. ZUG, Adjutant."

Previous to July 4th the Bracken Post had planned to sponsor a fireworks display. The Post communicated with Council and were informed that there existed an ordinance prohibiting the discharge of fireworks within the Borough. The Post was so advised and the above letter is in reply.

Police committee reported the officers made 27 arrests during the month. Eight were fined, nine held for court, 10 discharged. Sixteen lodgers were given shelter, fourteen lights were reported out and two doors were found open.

Philadelphia Electric Company advised Council that it had changed its plans regarding the placing of a governor pit at Pond street and Jefferson avenue. The pit is now to be placed at Wilson avenue near Monroe street. The request for the change in location was granted.

The Philadelphia Electric Company also requested permission to open several streets in the Third Ward for the extension of gas mains to Bensalem Township. Request was granted.

Communication was received from Young Men's Association asking Council to support the organization in the sponsoring of the National Championship Trophies of the Middle States Canoe Racing Association. Council authorized the Police Committee to extend whatever was needed in the way of police protection for the event.

Street Committee reported receipt of the new road roller and that it had been placed in operation and was proving satisfactory. The Committee also reported that Swain, Prospect and Lafayette streets had been rebuilt and that work was now proceeding on Jefferson avenue.

The Committee reported that it had desired to rebuild Harrison, Garfield and Hayes streets, but that only a few of the property owners had placed curbs and gutters and that therefore the work could not proceed.

Plumbers' bond of Howard L. Edwards with John R. Watson as surety and of Devine Brothers with Century Indemnity Company as surety were approved.

B. A. Holmes asked permission to erect an awning in front of his property at 108-110 Mill street. Request referred to Street & Highway Committee with power to act.

Modern Plumbing & Heating Co. asked permission to place a 1,000 gallon oil tank at its property, Jefferson avenue and Pond street and also for permission to place a tank beneath the sidewalk of the property of Joseph B. Singer, 317 Mill street. Requests referred to Street & Highway Committee with power to act.

Requests were received from Hugh McGee, Lafayette street and Wood, William Elmer, 592 Swain street, Mrs. David Fenton, Lafayette and Pond streets.

GOLDSBOROUGH WAS TO VISIT BRISTOL FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Junior Trans-Continental Air
Record Holder Lands
In Fog

IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Companion, Donald Mockler, Plays Hero's Part in Seeking Help

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15.—(INS)

—Frank Goldsborough, boy aviator, was brought to the Memorial Hospital, here, this morning, after a laborious trip, upon a stretcher improvised from his parachute, carried by his rescuers who waded knee-deep in mud, and scrambled over boulders to bring their unconscious burden to where medical assistance could be given.

The boy was found to be in a serious condition with a fractured skull. All of his teeth were knocked out when his plane crashed into the side of a mountain yesterday. No car could descend to where the crash occurred. The aviator was found after a night-long search, and the trip out of the mountainous section was completed only at 10.15, daylight time, three hours after he was found.

The six men who carried the youth down the mountainside found him with one finger still held tightly to the ring of his parachute which he never had a chance to use.

Frank Goldsborough, junior transcontinental air record holder, who was to have visited Bristol on Friday, and who crashed in a fog in the Vermont hills, near Dunville Notch, early this morning, has been found.

The famed youthful aviator, although seriously hurt, was found alive after an all night search by hundreds of woodsmen.

The airplane in which Goldsborough crashed was found lying on a hillside near Woodside Mountain. The boy, but 19 years of age, was groaning heavily and was unconscious. He was still pinned down by the wreckage that had made him a prisoner for nearly 24 hours. The craft was a total wreck.

It was believed when the find was made at about 6.30 this morning, that it would take two hours to get the flier to a hospital.

Close to 1,000 men had scoured the heavily wooded mountainous country throughout the night, led by Goldsborough's companion in the flight, Donald Mockler, 25. Mockler played the part of a hero in guiding the searchers to the scene of the crash-up, reaching to give up despite his own injuries.

The two young men were flying from Buffalo, N. Y., to Keene, N. H., when fog caused Goldsborough, junior transcontinental flight record holder, to lose his bearings.

Both youths were buried in the wreckage as the plane careened through the trees and crumpled.

Mockler fought loose of the twisted wreckage and although he was so badly shaken and bruised that he could hardly take care of himself, he tugged at the heavy plane, endeavoring to liberate Goldsborough.

He could see his companion was injured seriously. His efforts to pull him from the wreckage were in vain.

He made him as comfortable as he could, and after a last look at the boy, turned into the underbrush to find his way to help.

HONORING BUCHANAN

Belated recognition of the services of James Buchanan, the only Pennsylvanian ever elected president, has finally come in the form of a statue in Meridian Hill Park in the national capital.

President Hoover appropriately dedicated the monument in the presence of distinguished citizens of Pennsylvania and the nation, and the ceremony was made the occasion for reviving the critical estimate of some of the historians of the Buchanan administration, over which the approaching war between the North and South cast its ominous and dominating shadow.

It was the misfortune of James Buchanan to be president at a moment when, as Mr. Hoover expressed it, "no human power could have stayed the inexorable advance of a great national conflict."

He was not alone in holding to the belief that the slavery question could be settled by compromise, and had the ultimate failure of those hopes come in the administration of another, President Buchanan would have been canonized instead of condemned.

Buchanan played his difficult role with a dignity and courage that only now are receiving the recognition they deserve.

THE BURDENED COURTS

Crowded court dockets have come to be the rule rather than the exception. From Maine to California, and from the highest court to the lowest, more offenders are being brought before the bar today than ever before in the history of the nation.

Optimists argue that this wave of lawbreaking is but temporary and that when the pendulum swings back, and they say it must, crowded courts will be but memories. Those who look facts in the face, however, can see little or no relief in sight. The nation is buried beneath an avalanche of laws and ordinances. Criminals are more numerous and more audacious.

One way out of the problem—and it is a serious problem—is to repeal a few obsolete laws and cease prosecuting every trivial breach. The average man, in going about his ordinary affairs, cannot avoid breaking a great many laws. A large percentage of the cases cluttering the courts should not be there. Dreams of a crimeless age are the inspiration of the modern satirists of lawmaking but the fruits seem to be clogged courts and more lawlessness.

But as long as they insist on inventing new laws for the people to break congress and the state legislatures are morally bound to provide enough judges. Today's conditions violate the fundamental law of the land. Every accused person is entitled to a speedy and public trial, and with court calendars clogged as they are at present a speedy trial is impossible.

SYNOPSIS

Fair-skinned Dawn, mystery girl, was married the black tribe in the territory of the British East African Protectorate, because, as the mystic wife of the black god Malungu, she has failed in diverting the drought. She is really a white girl, not black, as the natives suppose. Her sweetheart, Tom Allen, knows the secret: he learned it too late, just as he was banished to England, through a rise of Shep Keyes, ship-bully, who has designs on Dawn. Now the natives, in an angry mood, plan to burn Dawn alive for her ineffectiveness. Tom, back in British service, means to save her at any cost. The soldierly refusal to let the blacks burn Dawn. They have a scheme to outwit them.

INSTALLMENT THIRTY

Dawn recalled a precept of the native religion. "But all sacrifices must be made at the Hill of Skulls." "Or else," Shep reminded her, "at the place where the sin was done." He tried to infuse his tones with solemnity the better to impress her. "That's the place where you was when Tom Allen whipped me. Tom Allen won't be here to narrow night."

Unrestrained sobbing again cracked the girl's body. She could not hope for compassion from Shep.

"They are taking the wood pieces by place to the Place of the White

Moon, where you was," he went on mercilessly. "Where you was—that light-wit Tom."

Gleefully he noted the effect of his words. "But," he whispered, leading over her quivering body.

"Shep Keyes can save you. And be wit."

Quickly she lifted her face to him, hopefully, imploringly. Her manner became supplicating with the terrible sincerity of only those who seek to escape peril.

"I'll take you to Mombassa," continued Shep exultantly. "Just you and me alone—in the jungle—to night."

She recoiled from him in horror.

"Never! I'll be true to my promise to Tom! I hate you more than ever, Shep Keyes."

"And you think Tom Allen loves you, huh? If he does, why did he come here and go away again yesterday?"

"Lies of yours, Shep Keyes!" she cried.

Hasmali entered, and looked questioningly at Shep.

"I just came to pray wit' Dawn,"

Shep explained.

"Maybe Malungu will hear his

Stalin and Mussolini Hold Keynote of European Peace

World War Chaos Rears to Power Silent, Stern Stalin, Soviet Dictator, Avoiding Spotlight Eagerly as Il
Duce Seeks It

BENITO

STALIN

PARIS, July 12.—Stalin and Mussolini are today the most powerful and closely-watched strategists on the political chessboard of Europe.

It is significant of the times that these two outstanding politicians are men who battled their way through obscurity to international eminence.

Though at many points their meteoric careers parallel each other, Stalin and Mussolini differ radically in both temperament and working methods.

The Italian Premier is the rip-roaring type of leader—the man who never stops beating his own drum and hammers on the emotions of his followers with the deafening din of an African tom-tom pounder. He travels like an emperor, and never attempts to conceal the strength of his mailed fist.

The Russian dictator chooses more subtle methods in running his governmental machinery. He works mysteriously and lives as quietly and as any of his humble clerks. But the lightning of his wrath is just as devastating as any propelled by the bombastic Duce.

Benito Mussolini was born in a Romagna village, the son of a socialistic blacksmith. His school career was curtailed after he stabbed another boy who had insulted him.

At the age of 19 he fled to Switzerland after becoming embroiled in a political fight. His radical activities at Lausanne caused the Swiss authorities to expel him. For years he was a tramp printer in Austria, but his espousal of the Socialist cause also resulted in his banishment. Twenty years ago he returned to Italy and established a radical newspaper.

The war shot him into power. He espoused the Allied cause and went into the army as a conscript. He was wounded and returned to his journalistic activities.

A staggering defeat in 1919 did not deter him in his efforts to organize the Fascist. Communism spread through Italy like a disease, but Mussolini, who had turned from socialism to rabid nationalism, led the blackshirt army to a nationwide victory in 1921. Since then he has ruled supreme, rattling the sabre and extolling himself and his own doctrines at every opportunity.

Though Joseph Stalin has been at the head of the Soviet Government for three years, little is known about his early beginnings. He played an indispensable role in the revolutionists' preparations for the overthrow of the Romanoffs in 1917.

Like Mussolini he was born in a small town. He was imprisoned and banished by the Czarist government, but each time wriggled his way back to the heart of the rebellion movement.

Though Lenin, a year before he died, drew up a testament warning the Soviets from entrusting Stalin with too much power—this crafty diplomat one by one eliminated all competitors and put himself at the head of the government in 1928.

His former chief and greatest enemy, Trotsky, was exiled and today is acknowledged supreme Dictator. He accomplished all this by relentless but secret methods.

The essential difference between Mussolini and Stalin is that the mysterious Russian dictator works stealthily and without ostentation while Mussolini claims the right to parade his power before his underlings.

streets, Manze & Palermo, to place signs. Requests referred to Street and Highway Committee with power to act.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner advised Council that State Highway Department had requested permission to place "Stop" signs at streets intersecting Pond street which is a State Highway. Request was referred to Street & Highway Committee with power to act and to ask the State to place the signs at streets intersecting Radcliffe street but not to place them at streets where they would interfere with the traffic signal lights.

Burgess Clifford L. Anderson advised Council that at the time Senator Joseph R. Grundy sailed for Europe he had forwarded flowers to the boat on which he was sailing on behalf of the burgess, officers and members of Borough Council. Council approved of the action of the Burgess by giving an unanimous rising vote.

Richard T. Myers presented an invitation from the Exchange Club inviting Council to attend the welcoming reception to be extended to Frank Goldsborough, transcontinental flier, Friday afternoon, upon his arrival here and also to attend the dinner Friday evening to be given the aviator. Both were accepted.

Councilmen present at the meeting last night were as follows:

Wagner, Winter, Williams, Morris, Headley, Warner, Schmidt, Vandergriff, Myers, Duffy, Barrett, Winslow, Fry, Spezzano, Johns, Zebley.

struction of models, gliders, power gliders and airplanes.

Son of a flying father, Bryce Goldsborough, who went down on the ill-fated trans-Atlantic flight of the "Dawn," Frank virtually grew up in a cockpit. He won his junior transcontinental record April 28 to May 11, when he flew from Los Angeles to New York in 18 hours and 18 minutes of flying time.

Friday evening Goldsborough was to be the honor guest at an aviation dinner meeting in the nature of a civic reception, under the Exchange Club auspices. Goldsborough who is known to speak with ease in public was to tell some of his thrilling experiences.

The tour which was to bring the lad to Bristol is another feature of the National Exchange Club "Service to Aviation Program" which last year sponsored the Women's Air Derby from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland, during the national air races.

Talkies Prove More Remunerative To Actors Than Stage Drama

Silver Screen Brings Fame and Fortune to Legitimate Stars While It Relegates Many Film Favorites to Semi-Oblivion.

AL JOLSON

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

JOHN GILBERT

JOHN BARRYMORE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 15.—Though the coming of the talkies swept off the crowns of scores of haughty movie stars, acting for the silver screen remains the most fabulously paid of all professions.

The main difference under the new regime is the method of payment. Until the close of the silent era in filmdom, luminaries were signed up by the year at so many thousand per week. Today they are paid by the picture.

Charlie Chaplin, who produces, writes, directs and stars in his own pictures still makes more money per film than any other celebrity of the film colony. However, the genius of the baggy pants and the heartbreakingly pathetic smile makes so few pictures that his gross income is exceeded by several more prolific players. Charlie incidentally has refused to talk in his new picture. It will be interesting to see how it will fare.

There is Al Jolson for instance, who leaped from the stage of the Winter Garden in New York to become one of the biggest box-office "draws" in the history of filmdom.

In "The Jazz Singer," which Jolson made for a company perilously close to bankruptcy, the famous "mammy" singer not only put the tottering corporation in the front rank of producing organizations, but sounded the death-knell of silent pictures.

At the time this epoch-making talkie was filmed, Jolson is said to have paid the players out of his own pocket in exchange for stock in the company which skyrocketed as soon as "The Jazz Singer" was exhibited. Jolson is said to have pocketed more than a million dollars on this gamble, but today, after several less successful efforts, has gone over to another company where he will produce on his own.

Jolson has always been known as one of the shrewdest business men in the show game. As a musical comedy star he was one of the few stage players to demand and receive a percentage of every dollar that came into the box office.

MARY RETAINS HER THRONE.

Among the women, Mary Pickford, who makes her own pictures for distribution by United Artists, still maintains her throne despite the threats of rival young satellites. Mary is an artist, whose genius neither the arrival of the talkies nor the passing of years seems to affect.

Her's, seemingly is the gift of eternal youth which Ponce de Leon sought centuries ago in the wilds of Florida's Everglades. Stars rise and fall but Mary Pickford retains her eminent position through all the cyclonic changes to which the movie business is subject.

Gloria Swanson, that svelte, sophisticated ruler over the hearts of movie mad millions, is today a bigger box-office attraction than she has ever been. Four or five times because of temperamental outbursts or badly made pictures, Gloria seemed destined for oblivion but each time she has come back—a bigger star and better actress than ever.

Under the tempestuous Erich von Stroheim's direction, Gloria a year or so ago made "Queen Kelly," which cost $1,800,000 and was never exhibited. It was started as a silent picture but the talkies swept in and the whole film had to be taken over again.

Finished it was such a terrible hodge-podge of nothing that the owner scrapped it. But Gloria, undaunted, turned around and made a talkie called "The Trespaser," which was an immediate sensation, grossing millions at box-offices all over the world.

But others of the older stars were not so fortunate. What has become of Dorothy Gish, Constance Talmadge, Pola Negri, Tom Mix, Emil Jennings and a dozen others whose incomes used to run from ten to twenty thousand dollars a week.

Dotty Gish is on the stage at perhaps eight hundred or a thousand a week. The Talmadge girl has apparently retired. Negri has disappeared almost entirely. Tom Mix has gone into circus and vaudeville work and Jennings is making pictures in Germany at a shrunken salary.

NEW STARS ARISE

But how many others have risen overnight to take their places! Ann Harding is a leading favorite recruited from the New York stage. Jack Oakie, the former chorus-boy, is a comedian who has proved a powerful new magnet to picture-lovers.

Oakie until very recently was playing star parts for $200 a week. He has signed for a long period at that figure with Wesley Ruggles, the director, when his comedy work in a baseball picture hoisted him into stardom. Today his contract has been purchased by a leading company and he is now being paid thousands of dollars each week for his work.

Buddy Rogers, a youthful jazz-band player, bounced into stardom along with Charles Farrell, the ineffable Janet Gaynor and that he-man Chester Morris.

He-men for some years now have been quite the thing in stars by the way. Witness Vic McLaglen and George Bancroft, who draw salaries that dwarf the stipends of presidents and the incomes of kings.

John Barrymore, that sterling actor, is said to be paid $350,000 for every picture he makes, and John Gilbert, who has not fared so well in the "speakies," draws almost as much. Gilbert, luckily is under a long term contract as is Clara Bow. Miss Bow's vogue, like his, seems to be passing.

Barrymore's wife, Dolores Costello, is almost as valuable as her celebrated hubby. Bebe Daniels, cast aside by one company, has come back with a deafening bang as a talkie ace for a rival outfit.

Adolphe Menjou, who was banished from Hollywood some time ago for fostering a strike among the actors has apologized, and is now making films in several languages for his old company.

All in all, it is a haphazard, crazy game, but who wouldn't take a chance at movie acting for $100,000 per picture. Oh yes; George M. Cohan recently tore up a million-dollar movie contract, but he is a millionaire, anyway, otherwise he would have been making faces, gestures and noises before the camera long ago.

Tullytown Youth Honored On His 18th Birthday

TULLYTOWN, July 15.—A few evenings ago a dinner was given to Wallace Keeler, at the home of his mother, Mrs. Walter Strouse, of Main street. The affair was in honor of his eighteenth birthday.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Lyons, of Belleville, N. J.; Joseph Winslow, Jr., of Bristol; Wallace White, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace White, Mrs. Elmina C. Gillingham, Edward Naylor, William Solomon and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strouse, of Tullytown.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilkinson and family, of 232 Harrison street, were guests last week of friends at Lakewood, N. J.

F. H. Grim, Revere, was elected president; Harry E. Grim, Perkaskie, vice-president; Mrs. Hillborn Darlington, Doylestown, secretary, and Mrs. Asher K. Anders, Doylestown, treasurer.

There were no births nor deaths during the year, but there was one marriage, that of Robert Grim, Perkaskie, and Miss Louella Moyer, Souderton, who were married on April 25, 1930.

The oldest person in attendance was Dr. F. H. Grim, Revere, and the youngest was Marjorie Swan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swan, Perkaskie. The reunion next year will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Grim, Perkaskie, on Saturday, July 11.

"sinister," wet influences. Only eleven women voted against the resolution. Disarmament and the World Court were heartily endorsed.

The county convention in Doling-ton Hall on Saturday, September 6th, was announced.

Two beautiful solos, "O Heart of Mine" and "In the Time of Roses," were sung by Mrs. Amelia Swayne, of George School.

Mrs. Nolan said, "There is no truth in the story that tourists in Europe must drink wine as the water is poor. There is plenty of good water." Another said, "My brother has been over nine different years in Europe and he says he can always get good water."

Mrs. Violet Hastings, of Philadelphia, will represent the group at Ocean Grove Inter-State Conference this week, with Ella S. Slack, of Penn's Park, as alternate.

Mrs. Lida C. Bean, State director of social morality, gave a highly interesting and illuminating address, telling of the many lives lost in the late war, the $37,000,000,000 spent and the $10,000,000,000 wasted through the cost of crime. She said the greatest war is on right now, the war between purity and crime.

"Aside from the moral aspect, people cannot go on drinking in this machine age, as auto accidents have increased in the last five years. 90% of the wrecks are caused by intoxication."

Mrs. Bean said, "The 18th Amendment is being enforced the same as all other laws." At the International Youths' Conference just closed at Toronto, deep and searching questions were discussed for two weeks by the 1800 young people present, as: "How may we know Jesus better?" and "What is Christian conduct?" She said the young people were very much disgusted with the working of government control in Canada and are looking forward to the time when they can have an "18th Amendment."

A Bungalow Suggesting the English Cottage

House No. 642

THE old thatched cottages of England seem to be recalled by the design and treatment of this bungalow. The fitting eyebrow dormer in front and a larger one in the back give light and ventilation to the attic where an additional room can be provided if needed.

Face brick has been chosen as the material best adapted to carry out the beauty in the design. The wide range of colors available give to the builder his selection of colors that harmonize with the landscaping and at the same time the brick lend their permanence and strength to the home. Given a Flemish bond—which means that every other brick is headed out,—with mortar colored to contrast with the color of the brick, this home takes on an individuality of appearance that is charming.

Through a vestibule one enters either a hall on the left which leads to the bedrooms or the living room on the right. The bedrooms all are of good size and conveniently located near the bath. Each room has windows on three sides, insuring good ventilation and an abundance of light. A fireplace is provided in the front bedroom, which can be used as a library, or den in the event it is not needed for sleeping purposes. The living room has three casement windows across the front and a single, good-sized window on the side wall, next to the fireplace which has been placed in the corner.

A large arched opening between the living and dining rooms gives the effect of one long room when viewed from either end. In the dining room, the window is of ample size to permit good daylight and opens onto a court which has been designed for the rear of the house. The breakfast room and kitchen adjoin and both are equipped with cabinets. The rear porch is as wide as the kitchen and opens directly into the attached garage. The garage can also be entered from the front through a door leading from the breakfast room.

The ceiling height of this home is 8 feet 6 inches and the content is 33,000 cubic feet. A 55-foot lot is ample to accommodate it, and if the garage is placed in the rear, a lot of 45 feet in width will suffice.
